Hoopyr

Feminine Divinity

Hoopyr Zine #1
Feminine Divinity
October 2021

Contents

4 - 5: Aphrodite, 2021

6-11, Worship, 2018

12-13: Artemis, 2021

14 - 19: Feminine Divinity, 2021

20 - 21: Athena, 2021

22- 27: Violent Delights, 2018

28 -29: Hecate, 2021

30 - 31: 3 Graces, 2021

Cover by: Matthew and Alec Hooper

Cover Model: Claudia Shepard

“...But Aphrodite, angry because she had not been granted what she thought was her right, stirred the women in Thrace by love, each to seek Orpheus for herself, so that they tore him limb from limb.

- Hyginus, Astronomica

Worship, 2018.

Photographed by Matthew Hooper
Modelled by Claudia Shepard

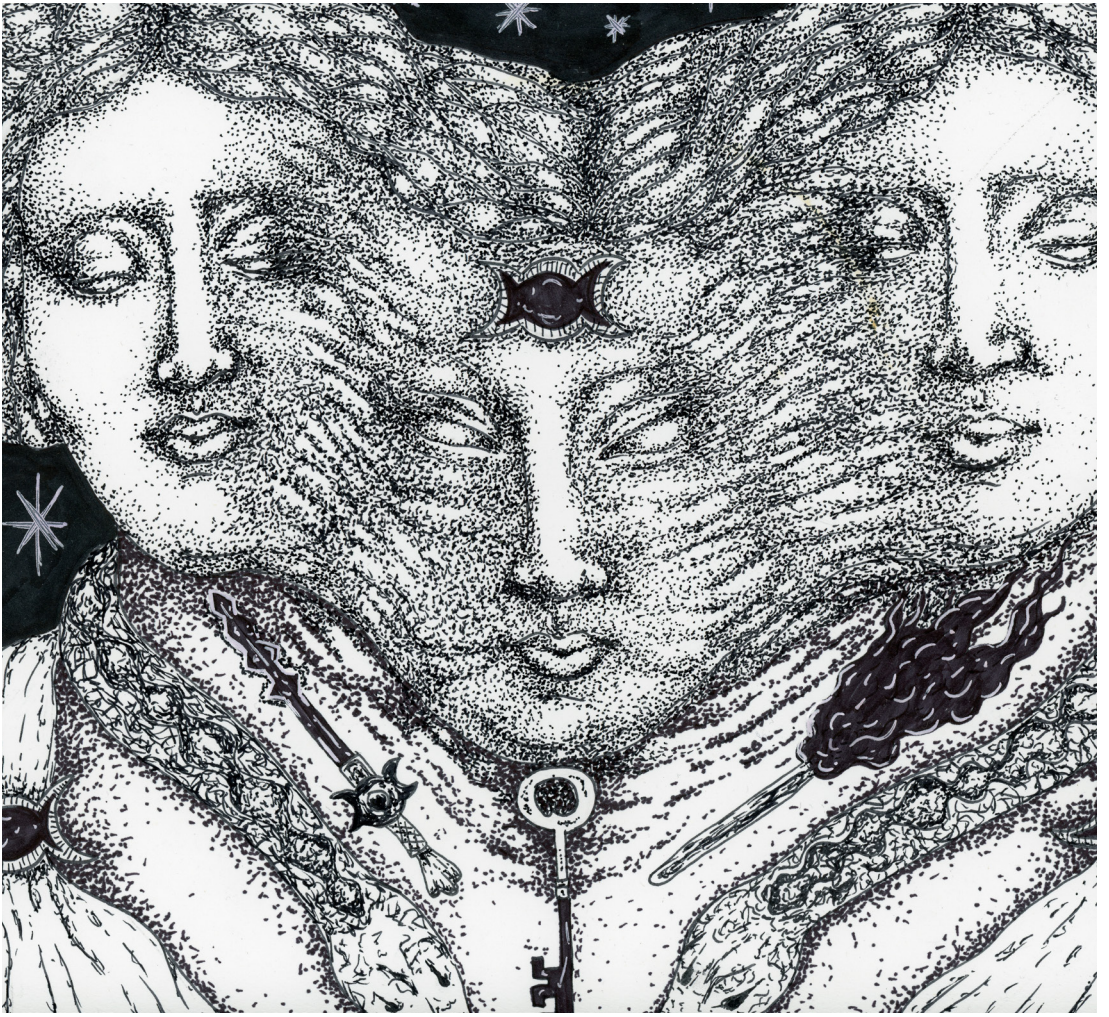

Over the shadowy hills and windy peaks Artemis draws her golden bow

Feminine Divinity, 2021.

By Alec Hooper

“The Goddess thus the imperial car ascends; Shook by her arm the mighty javelin bends, Ponderous
and huge; that when her fury burns,
Proud tyrants humbles, and whole hosts overturns.”

- Homer, The Iliad

Violent Delights, 2018.

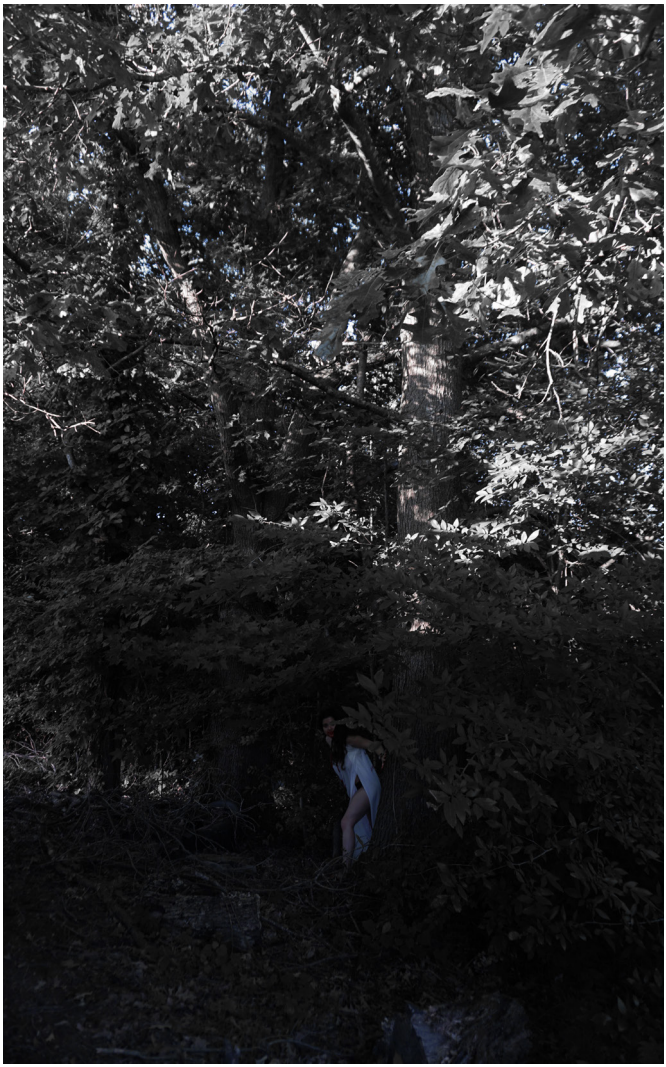

Photographed by Matthew Hooper
Modelled by Claudia Shepard

Hecate teaches us that the way to the vision that inspires renewal is to be found in moving through the darkness.

—Demetra George

For updates, special content, and more, visit us at:
www.hoopyr.com
Instagram: @hoopyrdarkcollective
Tiktok: @hoopyrdarkcollective
YouTube: Hooper Dark Collective

